PART- A

1. _______ established the first experimental laboratory in Leipzig, Germany.
2. _______ are responses or reactions we make or activities we engage in.
3. Full form of CNS.
4. Full form of LSP.
5. _______ refers to the misperceptions resulting from mis-interpretation of information received by our sensory organs.

6. All information pertaining to facts, names, and dates are part of _______ memory.

7. Define memory.

8. _______ are mental categories for objects and events, which are similar to each other in one or more than one way.
9. _______ thinking involves the production of something new and originate it may be an idea, object or solution to a problem.
10. _______ attempted to portray a picture of human behavior by arranging the various needs in a hierarchy.
PART-B

11. What does educational psychology studies?
12. What are the advantages of telephone survey?
15. What is functional fixedness?

PART-C

17. Describe the advantages of interview method
18. What is meant by acculturation? Explain any two acculturative strategies adopted by individuals during the course of acculturation.
19. Define perception. Diagrammatically show the sub-processes of perception.
20. Mention any four strategies for enhancing creative thinking.

PART-D

21. How can knowledge of the field of the environmental psychology be used to promote environment friendly behavior?
22. Describe the various steps involved in conducting a scientific enquiry?
23. Define socialization. Describe any two main agents of socialization.
25. Define attention. Explain its properties.
26. Briefly explain four ways to manage negative emotions.

PART-E

    OR

B) Describe operant conditioning with the help of an example.